Dear ,

SFOF officials just returned home from a quick trip to Washington, D.C., where we had the opportunity to be part of several discussions on tax reform and economic competitiveness.

It was energizing to be in Washington on the day the House of Representatives passed the largest tax reform bill since the Reagan administration.

A big thank you to SFOF National Chair, Treasurer Ron Crane (ID), Treasurer Eric Schmitt (MO), and Auditor JB McCuskey (WV) for taking time out of their schedules to be there with us. I also want to thank Seth Metcalf, SFOF Board member, Jon Christensen, SFOF Federal Counsel, and Todd Scoggins, SFOF Photographer, for taking the time to attend.

We were honored to get to spend some time with Jeremy Katz, Deputy Asst to the President & Deputy Director of the National Economic Council (and former SFOF corporate partner) and Shahira Knight, Special Assistant to the President for Tax and Retirement Policy.

We heard from SBA Administrator Linda McMahon, Agriculture Secretary Sonny Perdue, OMB Director Mick Mulvaney, and had a surprise visit by Vice President Mike Pence.

We are monitoring the tax reform package in the Senate. If you haven't yet, I encourage you to write an op-ed in your state supporting tax reform. If you have done so -- please email me a copy as we would love to see it!

We need to make our conservative voices heard from Washington to Florida, and Maine to Arizona that the country needs tax reform now. Enjoy some great photos from yesterday's event, and have a great weekend!

Best regards,
